“ I just learned today that my dear friend Enid had passed into her heavenly home and my heart is hurting. I met Enid when we were both at Rehab after our health issues forced us to be together and we hit it off from the start. Nobody could pray prayers for me like my dear sweetie. I hadn't heard from her in a few weeks and that was unusual so today I tried to call her and of course I couldn't reach her and I was afraid of what had happened and I just entered her name in the newspaper obituaries and her name came up. I am so sad at the loss of my friend. I will miss her forever. I look back at the last text I had from her and it was a prayer. She had prayed for me because I was about to have cataract surgery. I will never erase that prayer. It was three days before she passed what a large family she had. I am surprised I did not know that I knew she had a grandson that was very good to her and concerned about her when she was not well and a sister that took her places to all of you. I'm just a silly little old 81 year-old white woman that was so proud of my friend Enid. She always wanted me to go to church with her and I said Enid, won't you be embarrassed to take white person to church with you? You should've heard the blistering sermon I got from her. What a beautiful person tonight my heart is hurting. I'm so glad I knew her. What a good friend when you go to her grave and put flowers on it would you tell her Elaine loves her?
