“ My deepest condolences to the Marshall family. Its surreal to know that you've left us in body. It was a previlage to work with you as your care giver. After you gained my trust we became friends and family. Everyday was a great day because you would be sure to put a smile on my face and laughter in my heart from sharing all of your life time stories and telling jokes. One of the things you would joke with me about was the funeral home (Gilmore to be exact) because you knew I was affraid of dead people, you would say Mrs. Cole I spent the night at the funeral home ill be home shortly and sure enough you would be pulling up in your car (electric wheel chair). Ironically that would be where you gained your heavenly wings. Another memory to share is lesson you taught me. You taught me the true definition of being prompt is being 5 mins early (never a minute late) because if I was one minute late you would more than likely be gone. Although I'm sad you had to leave suddenly I know you're at peace. Im going to miss you and I know your response to this would be "that aint nothing new" and you're RIGHT!! Love always your care giver and friend Mrs.Cole Future Vision
