“ I can't stop the tears from falling... but one memory that always makes me smile is the reason why green 🍃 is your favorite color 🕯️

“ I am deeply heartbroken over your sudden passing from this world. For over 40 years, we shared a bond that transcended our different backgrounds—economic, social, family, and career. Despite those differences, we embraced them, enriched each other's lives, and became family by choice, not by blood.

Your life was dedicated to serving others, often at great personal cost, yet you never wavered in your generosity and kindness. You were a true, unapologetic Diva—authentic, bold, and full of life. I will miss you dearly.

As I recover from multiple surgeries, I regret that I cannot honor you in person. But please know that every tear I shed for you comes from a heart filled with love and gratitude for the memories we made. The laughter, the struggles, the unwavering support—we experienced it all together, and I will cherish it always.

Rest in peace,
Peaches 🍑
